MACMILLAN & CO., LTD., LONDON, W.C.2

THE HISTORY OF BRITISH CIVILIZATION

By ESME WINGFIELD-STRATFORD, D.Sc., M.A., Late Fellow of King's College, Cambridge.
Two Volumes, royal 8vo., 1,360 pages (48 page index), 42s. net.

THE FIRST REVIEW: "He has produced a book which will, I sincerely hope, find its way to the shelves of a great many people. Two guineas sounds a lot of money, but this book is good value. It is a history of British Civilization from the dawn of history until 1914. I have sampled it, and everywhere I have read with interest and admiration. The author is the happy possessor of a style at once dignified and lively. His book is written to be read by intelligent men and women. It is remarkably free from partisanship. Indeed, the author's outlook is wider than political, and his judgments strike one as true just because they are sympathetic."—D. C. SOMERVELL in The Daily News.

ALICE in the DELIGHTED STATES

By EDWARD HOPE. With 12 plates. 7s. 6d. net.

A book of glorious fun, a piece of gay delightful nonsense, this is perhaps the only imitation of Lewis Carroll's masterpiece which conveys some of its original's fascination. Here we have Alice's adventures in the Wonderland of America. The plates in the manner of Tenniel add greatly to the fun.

THE GREAT BETRAYAL

(La Trahison des Clercs)

By JULIEN BENDA.

7s. 6d. net.

This book, which caused a sensation in France, must necessarily do the same in England, for it is in effect a challenge to the whole modern world of thought. Political passion is inflaming the world of to-day and leading to national and class hatreds. Among the guilty are cited Péguy, Barrès, D'Annunzio, William James, Bergson and Kipling.

MEMOIRS of Mme. de POMPADOUR

By her waiting-woman, Mme. DU HAUSSET. Translated by F. S. FLINT, with an Introduction.
With 6 Plates. 10s. 6d. net.

The exquisite marquise is here portrayed by her own shrewd servant. This is the most intimate account that exists of one of the most beautiful and most admirable women in history, the mistress of Louis XV.

THE UNCONQUERED KNIGHT, 1431-49

By his standard-bearer, DE GAMEZ. Translated by JOAN EVANS, B.Litt., with an Introduction. With 8 Plates. 10s. 6d. net.

This is the first volume to appear of the Broadway Medieval Library, edited by G. G. Coulton and Eileen Power, of which a prospectus may be had on application. It is a fascinating account of the life of a knight by his own standard-bearer, and of the age of chivalry and love.

THE MAGNIFICENT MONTMORENCY, 1595-1632

By CYRIL HUGHES HARTMANN, M.A., B.Litt., author of "The Vagabond Duchess." With 8 plates. 12s. 6d. net.

The life story of Henri, Duc de Montmorency, is here recounted by a master of the biographical art. His courage and generosity, his remarkable love story, his persecution by Cardinal Richelieu, and his death upon the scaffold form a stirring and dramatic chronicle.

THE TRUE HISTORY OF HANS STADEN

Translated by MALCOLM LETTS, with an Introduction. With the original woodcuts, 8vo, 10s. 6d. net. Staden was a German gunner who served under the Portuguese in Brazil in the 16th century. He fell into the hands of the natives, and narrowly escaped being killed and eaten. His subsequent adventures were curious and exciting, and his woodcuts bring the horrors of his captivity vividly before the eye.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO ANALYTICAL PSYCHOLOGY

By C. G. JUNG. 18s. net.

Full of valuable material, this volume of collected papers further develops Jung's well-known theories, and applies them concretely to such subjects as Woman in Europe, Marriage, Poetic Art, Instinct, Education, etc. A long and significant essay on the Libido is also included.

FATHERS of THE CHURCH

Edited by F. A. WRIGHT, Professor of Classics in the University of London. 12s. 6d. net.

This selection from the pages of the Latin Fathers reveals the wealth of interesting material that lies hidden therein. Tertullian, Cyprian, Augustine, and four others are represented by long extracts of the utmost historical and social significance to-day.

CHIVALRY

A volume of essays, edited by Professor E. PRESTAGE. (Oct. 18). With 24 plates, 15s. net.

This volume, by members of King's College, London University, throws much light on that characteristic feature of the Middle Ages, the institution of Chivalry. Intended for the general reader, the historical significance of Chivalry all over Europe is elucidated and its civilizing effects estimated. Full bibliographies and striking plates make the volume an ideal introduction to a subject that has been greatly neglected.

A SELECTION FROM THE AUTUMN LIST OF CHAPMAN & HALL, LTD.

CONFESSIONS OF AN INCURABLE COLLECTOR

By DESMOND COKE. Author of "The Art of Silhouette," etc. Illustrated. Medium 8vo. 21s. net. Two big exhibitions have lately roused public interest in collectors and what they collect; so that there is something topical in "Confessions of an Incurable Collector," the book in which Mr. Desmond Coke, the novelist and life-long collector, sets out, helped by sixty illustrations from his own varied collections, to explain the joys of his rather revolutionary methods of collecting. Probably no more personal, witty and provocative book has ever been written about the subjects of art and antiques.

SEVERAL OF MY LIVES

By LOUIS N. PARKER. Illustrated. Demy 8vo. 21s. net. Mr. Louis N. Parker confesses to being in his seventy-sixth year, but he has still the heart of indomitable youth. The youngest man of his generation, he is still writing new plays and planning yet others, and he has found time to set down the story of his kaleidoscopic and cheery life in a volume of very original quality. The story of his life is full of anecdote and worldly wisdom, and should be an inspiration to the young, as well as a fund of interesting association to the old.

I TELL YOU

By ALBERT DE COURVILLE. Illustrated. Demy 8vo. 18s. net. Mr. Albert de Courville, best known to the London world as a master of stage production, has a remarkably exciting story to tell in relating his reminiscences. The secret of his success has been his wonderful capacity for forcing an opportunity, a capacity which he has exercised to perfection ever since the day when, as a very young man, he rang up the Editor of the Evening News and told him that he wanted a post on the staff. So complete was his self-confidence that he got the post at once. The book is full of entertainment and character.

UNDER THE SOUTH

By JAMES NORMAN HALL. Demy 8vo. 15s. net. This book, half novel and half travel book, gives an extraordinarily vivid picture of the primitive life of Polynesia. The late Robert Keable, who had intended to write an introduction for it, said that it was perhaps the truest picture of that underworld that had ever been given to European readers. "If this is not the truth about the South Sea Islands it is as near the truth as we are likely to get."—Saturday Review.

THE TREASURE HOUSE OF EASTERN STORY

Under the Editorship of SIR E. DENISON ROSS. A Series of translations of famous Oriental works of legend, fable and romance from the literatures of China, India, Arabia, Persia, etc. Vol. I now ready. Each volume will contain a frontispiece and specially designed wrapper. The published price will be 21s. net per volume; and there will also be an edition de luxe on hand-made paper, limited to 50 copies, numbered and signed, at £3 3s. net per copy.

GAME BIRDS

By DOUGLAS DEWAR. Author of "Birds at the Nest," "Indian Bird Life," and other books on Natural History. With 20 wood-engravings by E. Fitch Daglish. Crown 4to. 42s. net. Mr. Douglas Dewar, who is universally recognised as one of the first living authorities on birds and bird life, has here written a complete natural history of British Game Birds, with a special appeal to sportsmen. The large paper edition, limited to 50 copies, has been over-subscribed, but copies are obtainable at the bookshops, price £5 5s. net.

STAGE DECORATION

By SHELDON CHENEY. 256 illustrations. Crown 4to. About 42s. net. For six years from 1920 the author was actively engaged in theatre production work in New York. More recently he has been travelling in Europe studying the stage methods of other countries. His book, which is profusely illustrated, gives an account of the development of stage decoration from the earliest days to the present time. The book is both critical and practical, and should be of the greatest value to all amateur societies, to which it might well serve as an indispensable guide.

THE BOOK OF GARDEN ANIMALS

By E. FITCH DAGLISH. Fully illustrated. Crown 8vo. 7s. 6d. net. The gardener, in the course of his digging, or whilst tending his beloved plants, is constantly coming upon animals about which he knows practically nothing, but with regard to whose habits he is loath to remain entirely ignorant. To such, this work is offered as a guide, in the hope that its perusal may awaken the reader's interest in the fauna of the garden, so that in future a study of the animals may proceed hand in hand with work among its flowers.

LORDS OF THE WILD A BOOK OF ANIMAL STORIES

By SAMUEL SCOVILLE, Jr., author of "Man and Beast," "Wild Folk," etc. With illustrations by Charles Livingstone Bull. Crown 8vo. 7s. 6d. net. Here are stories of rescues and escapes, fights, flights and grim battles to the death, in which the leading figures are leopards, foxes, cobras, bears, baboons, black cats, wolves and many other denizens of the wild. The pictures, by Mr. Livingstone Bull, catch the spirit of the story with fidelity.

BELLS THRO' THE AGES

"The Founders' Craft and Ringers' Art." By J. R. NICHOLS. Demy 8vo. 21s. net. Campanology, or the science and art of casting and ringing bells, is an instrumental study not only of considerable age but of great interest to many thousands of people. Mr. Nichols has produced for us an authoritative work which will become, without question, a standard of reference. The work is fully illustrated by photographs and diagrams of especial interest.

"The strangest things in our literature"

The Ecstasies of Thomas De Quincey

Edited, with an Introduction and Appendix, by THOMAS BURKE. 7s. 6d. net

"Mr. Burke's essay on De Quincey's work and personality is just and sensitive. His selection should give many readers an opportunity of forming their own judgment of a writer who, when he escaped his faults, if they be conceded as such, was a master of lucid and arresting English prose."

Humour from "Punch" Collaborators

Simple People

By ARCHIBALD MARSHALL. Pictures by GEORGE MORROW. Cloth, 7s. 6d. net; Leather, 10s. 6d. net

"Readers will remember Mr. Marshall's Simple Stories: to say that his new book is a worthy sequel is dangerously high praise, but the excellence of many simple people justifies it. Let me recommend 'Mr. Jubeedle' and 'The Centaur' and 'The Butler' and 'The Brigand'; in fact, let me recommend most of the book, and Mr. Morrow."—GERALD GOULD in Observer.

"Mr. Morrow, as usual, is the perfect illustrator."—Sphere.

A WELL-KNOWN JOURNALIST'S REMINISCENCES

To be published October 19

Bohemian, Literary, & Social Life in Paris

By SISLEY HUDDLESTON. Illustrated. 21s. net.

In this lively and unconventional book Mr. Huddleston, formerly the Times correspondent in Paris, relates with a wealth of anecdote his long association with famous writers, artists, and social personages in Paris salons, cafés, and studios. Here are Anatole France, Marcel Proust, Georges Courteline, André Maurois, Paul Morand; and painters and sculptors such as Monet, Matisse, Picasso, and Rodin. Here are illuminating portraits of James Joyce, Hilaire Belloc, Ezra Pound, Gertrude Stein, George Moore, Isadora Duncan, Loie Fuller, and many more. Mr. Huddleston has some startling things to say, and his book is a real Parisian Nights' Entertainments.

Tracking and Capturing the Ape-Man of Africa

By BEN BURBRIDGE. Illustrated. 10s. 6d. net

"A chronicle, illustrated from photographs taken on the spot, of safari in the wildernesses of Central Africa. The climax of interest is reached in the chapters on gorilla hunting in the trackless mountain jungles, where the author had many glimpses of the family life of Bula Mataadi or 'Great Master,' as the natives call him. A thrilling record."—Morning Post (leading article).

By CARMEL HADEN GUEST, Author of Children of the Fog. 7s. 6d. net

"I have read it with great interest and pleasure. It is better than Children of the Fog, good as that was, and it holds the reader to the very end."—H. G. WELLS.

"Unusually worth attention. She gives an amused but keen-edged portrait of social life behind the lines in the War. Inevitable tragedy and pathos are everywhere subordinated to humour. Mrs. Guest here perfects her powers of observation to achieve a method like Jane Austen abroad."—Observer.

The New Barrington Novel

The Empress of Hearts

A Romance of Marie Antoinette

By E. BARRINGTON. 7s. 6d. net

Second Large Impression

The author of The Divine Lady, Glorious Apollo, etc., has turned for the subject of her new novel to the famous affair of the Diamond Necklace, perhaps the strangest true story in the world. She shows the young Queen in a new light, entwined in the meshes of the Court intrigue that eventually brought her to the guillotine.

DENT

THE CAPTAIN'S
DAUGHTERBY ALEXANDR PUSHKIN
FIRST COMPLETE TRANSLATIONBY NATALIE DUDDINGTON
This thrilling novel of the peasants' rising under Pugatchov, written ninety years ago, has never before been given in a full English translation. "Full of movement and of odd characters sketched with humour and easy power. Pushkin gives the reality of things not described but seen for oneself, and they are so strange that they stick in the memory. He is just as successful with the characters . . . the positive creations of a few sentences —written by a genius."—Evening Standard. Introduction by EDWARD GARNETT.

WOODCUTS BY

ERIC FITCH DAGLISH

Something quite new in nature books! The text, which is so written that it can be perfectly understood by a child, is brief and informative, giving actual facts about the character and habits of each animal. The woodcuts present their subjects in simple yet eloquent terms, showing the general characteristics and a typical attitude. "Mr. Daglish's work," says the Observer, "is an unqualified success." Six volumes, of which the first two are now ready. 2s. 6d. net each.Two recent additions to Dent's Uniform Series of Illustrated Classics are MON-

PHILOSOPHICAL THEOLOGY

By F. R. TENNANT, D.D., B.SC. Volume I. THE SOUL AND ITS FACULTIES. Royal 8vo. 21s. net."Promises to be a very notable work. . . . We should find it difficult to name any recent philosophical work richer in stimulus and instruction, and we look forward to its successor (on the theistic interpretation of the world) with uncommon interest."—The Glasgow Herald.

OLD TESTAMENT ESSAYS

By R. H. KENNETT, D.D.
Demy 8vo. 12s 6d net."The essays are fascinating pieces of scholarly study, exhibiting an erudite patience in the piecing together of fragments of evidence, which cannot but excite both the interest and the admiration of biblical students."—The Guardian.GOLDSMITH
BI-CENTENARYTHE COLLECTED LETTERS
OF OLIVER GOLDSMITHEdited by K. C. BALDERSTON, PH.D.
Crown 8vo. 7s 6d net.This collection, published in celebration of the 200th anniversary of Goldsmith's birth, contains a considerable amount of new material. SELECTIONS

Edited by A. H. R. BALL, M.A. Crown 8vo. 4s 6d

"By collecting in one volume, as judiciously as does Mr Ball, the scattered pronouncements of Ruskin upon literature and upon the aesthetics of literary composition, the editor enables one to obtain a clearer view of Ruskin's critical theories and judgments than it would be possible to obtain in any other way."—The Nation and Athenæum.STUDIES IN INTERNATIONAL

A New Novel by the Author of THE KEY ABOVE THE DOOR.

WHILE RIVERS RUN.

By MAURICE WALSH.

7s. 6d. net.

Brimming with Life, and Love, and Laughter, and Sport in the open spaces. Punch says: "Mr. Walsh's second novel has given me genuine entertainment. I would ask nothing better than to spend a day's shooting or fishing with Mr. Walsh, while his Alistair Maclean, Sir Hugh's nephew, is in the process of falling into love and out of it. Let me add that dramatic incidents find their place in a story whose characters are gloriously alive."

READING THIS NOVEL ADDS TO THE JOY OF LIFE. THE KEY ABOVE THE DOOR.

By MAURICE WALSH.

3s. 6d. net.

A BETTER MAN. By ROSALINE MASSON. 7s. 6d. net. The leading characters are two nephews of a Scottish Colonel and a very charming and sprightly girl. A feature of the story is the contrast of character in the two young men—one a fine healthy, full-blooded Australian, the other a sophisticated youth from America.

INTERESTING NEW BOOKS FROM THE FANFROLICO PRESS

Thomas Lovell
BEDDOESedited with a new memoir by
SIR EDMUND GOSSE

This (definitive) edition of Beddoes' complete works was the last important task undertaken by the late Sir Edmund Gosse, who had access to the original manuscripts for his edition of the '90's, now very scarce. The textual and biographical material has now been brought up to date and an unpublished portrait of the poet appears as a frontispiece. The book is beautifully printed, with Hans Holbein's Dance of Death woodcuts as decorations.

In 2 Vols on Dutch paper, 750 copies only for subscription at £2 2s.
And a special edition in one volume, English handmade paper, 75 copies £5 5s.

Nietzsche's
ANTICHRISTwith six large drawings by
NORMAN LINDSAY

This new version, by P. R. Stephensen, of Nietzsche's rhapsodical polemic against Christian morality, is a most ambitious piece of printing, intended to stand as the Fanfrolico Press "bible." On a page size 15 × 11, the text is printed entirely in Poliphilus Roman capitals with special initials in colour. The illustrations which include some of Norman Lindsay's most remarkable work, are reproduced entirely in hand copperplate gravure.

550 copies only on Arnold's handmade paper, for subscription at £3 3s.
And a special edition on Japanese Vellum, 25 copies, at £21 10s.

Also in preparation are two delightful "gift" books—THE TUNNING OF ELYNOUR RUMMING, by John Skelton, with drawings in colour by Pearl Binder (15s.); and HOMER'S HYMN TO APHRODITE, 12s. 6d., done into English Verse by Jack Lindsay, with illustrations from the Hellenic statues of the Goddess—and a work on the lyrical philosophy of Nietzsche, DIONYSOS, by Jack Lindsay, with illustrations, £2 2s.—All very beautifully produced in limited editions, prospectuses of which are available on application to the booksellers or to the Fanfrolico Press.

GEOFFREY BLES

CONSTANCE KENT

By JOHN RHODE. 10s. 6d. net.

A full account of this mysterious murder and the masterly investigation of Jonathan Whicher, culminating in the arrest of the victim's sister, a sixteen-year-old girl. John Rhode's history of this strange affair is as thrilling as his latest mystery novel, "TRAGEDY AT THE UNICORN," which The Field calls "a perfectly gorgeous detective yarn."

"Few historical crimes have been handled with a finer mixture of meticulous carefulness and dramatic force than has been displayed by Mr. John Rhode in his history of this appalling tragedy."—Sunday Times.
